

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An automated method, system and software for storing and transmitting data in an universal format in a global network. A document is received in a first format, is parsed into constituent node sets. The node sets are each semantically-tagged, indexed and stored in a data store. The document in the first format is reassembled into a second format.

10042260-011102